Introduction

The University of Cambridge Institute of Continuing Education (ICE) is a gateway to flexible and meaningful university-level education for all adults wishing to learn for personal, social, societal or professional motivations. ICE supports the University's aim to prioritise and enable learning throughout life and to promote the widest possible access for learners to the University.

Whether you are taking your first steps in higher education or seeking to undertake postgraduate-level study, ICE aspires to form welcoming and supportive communities of learning where approachable expert teachers and adult students work together as peers to achieve personal and collective educational goals. Our discussions extend beyond the classroom over tea breaks, garden strolls, informal lunches in Madingley Hall's dining room and globally across our virtual learning environment. ICE is a place where professional networks are formed, friendships made and learning cherished.

ICE's portfolio of over 50 award-bearing courses divide broadly into two areas. Our professional development courses cover applied fields ranging from coaching to international relations. Our liberal arts offering explores academic disciplines as distinct as art history and genetics. Many subject areas offer both introductory-level courses and advanced postgraduate study options. Our aim is to provide pathways so you can study at your ideal level and pace.

We draw on the expertise and resources of the collegiate University and our wider networks in order to deliver field-leading continuing education. ICE promotes evidence-based exploration, critical enquiry and free speech in welcoming and respectful classrooms. All of our award-bearing courses lead to a recognised University of Cambridge qualification.

A selection of our courses are open access, not requiring prior entry qualifications. The credit system used by ICE aligns to the national Credit Accumulation and Transfer Scheme (CATS).

We anticipate that over 1,000 adults (approximately 20% of our total student body) will enrol on ICE award-bearing courses in the next academic year, with cohort sizes typically ranging from 10 – 50 students, with an average cohort of around 17 students. Our diverse student base is drawn from regional, national and international audiences, which strongly enriches the peer dialogue and overall learning experience.

A wide range of tuition fee bursaries are available for students who have not engaged with higher education previously and those drawn from disadvantaged and underrepresented groups.

Every student at ICE will have their own story, their own motivations to study. Introverts and extroverts, scientists and artists, young and old, alumni of world universities and graduates from the University of Life – all are welcome at ICE and all enrich one another's learning experience. Together we will develop academically and personally.

My colleagues and I look forward to meeting you, learning alongside you – and from you – as we explore new thinking, knowledge and skills together as part of Cambridge's unique life-wide learning community.

Why study with us?

Whether studying for personal interest or professional development, join adults from all over the world to be taught by experts in a broad range of subjects.

An exceptional team of staff

With so many excellent lecturers and differing approaches, you will discover the richness which characterises the 'University of Cambridge experience'.

You will have the chance to learn from some of our finest academics and most experienced professionals; from our subject-specialist Academic Directors to our exceptional team of tutors. Together, they work to produce the diverse course offering available at ICE.

Staff are always on hand to ensure that you are supported throughout your course. We are committed to making sure that your experience is the best it can possibly be.

A sense of community

Studying with us not only feeds your love of learning but also expands your professional and social networks, allowing you to become part of a very unique learning community.

Being part of a community of intellectually-curious adults from all walks of life means there is no shortage of people willing to share new ideas and opinions. Discussion and debate bring the subjects to life, conventional wisdom is challenged and fresh possibilities explored. Peer learning is key and inquiry and interaction are encouraged.

Our aim is to make the learning environment a welcoming, supportive and rewarding one for all, regardless of educational background. You might be exploring a new discipline for the first time, finding your way back into education, or taking an in-depth dive into a subject you've been passionate about for a long time. Alternatively, you might be a professional looking to progress or change your career path.

Whatever your motivation for study, all are welcome and bring together a fascinating mix of ideas and experience.

We want to ensure that the opinions and feedback of adult learners at ICE are heard and we use the comments provided to meaningfully improve our taught course offering and overall student experience. From the 2020-21 academic year we will be inviting ICE student representatives to join a wide range of committees as student representatives.

Gain a University of Cambridge qualification

All of our award-bearing courses lead to a University of Cambridge qualification, accredited under the nationally recognised Credit Accumulation and Transfer Scheme (CATS).

Our Master of Studies (MSt) degrees are fully matriculated, meaning you join a College and become a Cambridge alumni after graduating. ICE is one of the few places at the University where you can study for a Master's degree on a part-time basis.

Awards ceremony

For students who successfully complete a non-matriculated ICE course, an annual awards ceremony is held at Madingley Hall. The ceremony is an excellent opportunity to recognise and acknowledge significant academic achievement as well as celebrate student success. Please note that the ICE awards ceremony is free of charge for students (and up to two invited guests per student) who complete an eligible ICE course.

About our courses

All of the courses in this prospectus lead to full University of Cambridge qualifications which are accredited under the nationally recognised Credit Accumulation and Transfer Scheme (CATS).

		Course	Credits	Qualification
UNDERGRADUATE	FHEQ 4	Undergraduate Certificate course	60 Credits	eg Undergraduate Certificate in Coaching
	FHEQ 5	Undergraduate Diploma course	60 Credits	eg Undergraduate Diploma in Creative Writing
	FHEQ 6	Undergraduate Advanced Diploma course	60 Credits	eg Undergraduate Advanced Diploma in Research Theory & Practice
POSTGRADUATE	FHEQ 7	Postgraduate Certificate	60 Credits	eg Postgraduate Certificate in Philosophy
		Postgraduate Diploma	120 Credits	eg Postgraduate Diploma in Genomic Medicine
		A part-time Master's degree taken over two years	180 Credits	eg Master of Studies (MSt) in History
		Apprenticeships	60 – 180 Credits	eg Degree Apprenticeship in Architecture

FHEQ signifies the framework for higher education qualifications in England, Wales and Northern Ireland. Undergraduate years are FHEQ Levels 4–6. Postgraduate study at Master's level is FHEQ Level 7. If you complete two Undergraduate Certificates, this equals 120 credits and may be eligible for a Certificate in Higher Education, depending on the courses studied.

Other study pathways

If you want to find out what it's like to be a student here, but you aren't quite ready to commit to a qualification, why not try a short or online course, or sign up for one of our summer programmes? These are a great way to gain an understanding of what it feels like to be a student at ICE.

Short courses

Alongside our award-bearing programmes, we offer hundreds of other courses for adults, taught by leading academics. These include day schools, weekly courses and residential weekends or retreats, many of which take place at our beautiful home, Madingley Hall. To study here, all you need is an interest in the subject area. It is possible to stay at Madingley Hall during your short course study.

Find out more at
www.ice.cam.ac.uk/short-courses

Online courses

If you want flexibility, or are not within easy reach of Cambridge, why not try one of ICE's online courses? These tutor-led courses allow you to study with us, wherever you are in the world. You will receive personal feedback on your work from an expert tutor, and join a growing community of online learners on our Virtual Learning Environment (VLE).

Find out more at www.ice.cam.ac.uk/online

International Summer Programmes

Every July and August people from across the globe attend our open-access programmes which include Literature, Creative Writing, Shakespeare and the Renaissance, Art and Visual Culture, Ancient and Classical Worlds, History, Medieval Studies, Science, Innovation and Entrepreneurship, Global Challenges, Visions of the Future and Interdisciplinary Studies. Some people stay for six weeks, others for just one or two. As teaching takes place on weekdays, it might also be possible to attend a weekend course just before, or during, some of our summer programmes.

Find out more at
www.ice.cam.ac.uk/intsummer

Pre-University Summer Programmes

Our Pre-University Summer Programmes provide 16 – 18 year old high school students with the opportunity to prepare for future undergraduate study at leading global universities. This is an intellectually stimulating and intensive programme taught at Newnham College.

Find out more at www.ice.cam.ac.uk/pup

Archaeology and Landscape History

Archaeology is the study of the past through the traces or material remains which survive into the present. Studying at ICE will help you develop your own archaeological expertise through the analysis of death, religious and ritual beliefs, and the daily life of past peoples by examining what they have left behind. The study of landscape history will enable you to understand how today's landscape came into being.

Biological Sciences

From Darwin's theory of evolution to the latest advances in genetics, courses at ICE capture the imagination at the microscopic and macroscopic levels. We offer an increasing range of courses that address some of the most fundamental concepts in biological sciences and enable the exploration of modern biological research. Combining theory and practical application, our courses offer opportunities to expand and develop your biological horizons.

Creative Writing and Literature

Whether your passion is for writing or reading, our courses will immerse you in words and images as you develop your creative and critical skills. At ICE we offer a range of courses designed to support both the beginner and the more experienced writer or student of literature. You can study great literature of the past and present, or try your hand at creative writing including short stories, long fiction, memoir, writing for performance, poetry, nature and travel writing and family history.

*Courses in this subject area that are designed to further your professional development are denoted by *

Education Studies and Teaching

Education studies incorporates a range of disciplines including sociology, psychology and history, used to understand teaching, learning and debates surrounding schooling in society. Here at ICE, education studies represents a growth area and includes short courses and the MSt in Advanced Subject Teaching for English and History teachers wishing to enhance their pedagogical skills.

“I moved from the Middle East back to the UK in pursuit of education. I have always wanted to be a writer, but lacked the guidance, criticism and freedom to express myself to the max. I am hoping when I complete my Creative Writing Diploma to apply to more writing courses, as everything and everyone I have met during my time at Madingley have been so valuable.”

Meraymi, Creative Writing student

Engineering and Technology

Engineering is about solving real-world problems based on scientific discovery and knowledge. Engineering involves critical thinking, design and creativity. At ICE we offer an MSt in Construction Engineering and an MSt in Social Innovation. In addition we are currently developing a number of interdisciplinary courses aiming to support practitioners in the business, public and social sectors, as well as developing and empowering emerging leaders.

*Courses in this subject area that are designed to further your professional development are denoted by *

History

Are you interested in the history of Britain, Europe, America, or the wider world? Here at ICE, we offer a range of courses either for personal enrichment or as stepping stones towards a PhD. We can provide you with the skills to undertake your own local history, as well as giving insights into the politics of Medieval England, the Reformation and Henry VIII, the Nazis and fascism in Europe, and Native American history.

“I come from Kansas but chose to study at ICE because Cambridge is the best academic institution in the whole world. I am an Executive Director of a not-for-profit organisation and a youth and collegiate Pastor at a church in Dallas, Texas. In my work, I see a lot of injustice and inequality. Thanks to my history course, I can put that inequality into some form of context.”
David, History student

Law and Criminology

We offer qualifications in this subject, largely in the area of criminology, ideal for senior police officers looking for a professional qualification. Of particular interest might be our apprenticeships in this area, allowing you to study for your qualification whilst working.

*Courses in this subject area that are designed to further your professional development are denoted by *

Leadership and Coaching

Coaching has seen a dramatic growth in recent years. Originating in the sporting arena, coaching has migrated into business life and an increasing number of organisations around the world are using coaches as an integral approach to leading and developing staff. Here at ICE, we offer a growing range of coaching courses for newcomers to the subject and for those who have studied or worked in the area before.

*Courses in this subject area that are designed to further your professional development are denoted by *

Medicine and Health Sciences

At ICE we recognise the importance of providing cutting-edge training to practising clinicians and healthcare specialists, along with opportunities for people to enhance their own understanding of medically related subjects. Our courses cover a range of topics in this area, including new advances in the applications of healthcare data and genomic medicine, the principles of medical education, and an introduction to immunology and infectious diseases.

Philosophy and Ethics

Philosophy continues to be a popular subject for students of all ages at ICE. We all philosophise at different times in our lives asking ourselves questions about identity, truth and meaning; as well as sport, humour and politics. Philosophy is a subject that we can all relate to. But more than this, it is about learning how to think (not just what to think). Philosophy is instrumental in developing the 'soft skills' we all need in our professional lives, including critical and creative thinking, communication and problem solving.

International Relations and Global Studies

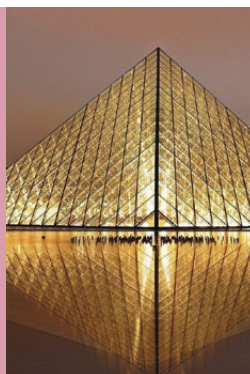

International relations and global studies has become one of the most sought-after and exciting areas of study as the international arena undergoes rapid change and unexpected disruption. At ICE, our courses look at the dynamics of war and peace, the decision-making of world leaders, trade and security, the workings of the United Nations and other international organisations, and the challenges of combating climate change, preparing students to engage with the most important political issues of our time.

Visual Culture

Visual culture explores the role of objects and imagery within historic and contemporary society. Here at ICE, courses that involve this type of study include history of art, architecture and historic building conservation. They may be accessed via award-bearing courses, short courses, the Art and Visual Culture summer programme, or as modules on other interdisciplinary courses. The array of levels offered covers newcomer to postgraduate and everything in between.

Undergraduate Certificates

Undergraduate Certificate courses are taught part-time over one year (unless otherwise indicated), at first-year undergraduate degree level. Most are open to anyone with an interest in the subject, and you do not need any special qualifications to apply. These are a great starting point if you haven't studied in a while or are taking on a new subject area.

Archaeology and Landscape History

Undergraduate Certificate in Archaeology of Ancient Britain

Dates: 10 October 2020 – 12 June 2021

Apply by: 31 August 2020

Medieval documents, buildings and artefacts survive in archives, landscapes and galleries, sometimes in remarkable numbers and in an outstanding state of preservation. This course will help you to develop an interdisciplinary overview that uses this range of material to address large questions: the complexity of changing power relationships between lords, gentry and peasants; the influence of dramatic climate change and deadly epidemics on social and economic structures; agricultural conservatism and innovation in attempts to meet these challenges; and the importance of changes in ideas expressed in art and religion in cultural transformation.

“When I retired, I was determined to keep seeking out serious intellectual stimulation and show my six grandchildren that although my hair may be grey, my mind is just as capable as it always was. Studying at ICE has sharpened me up, reignited dormant interests and given me a context in which to learn new tricks. Who wouldn't want that?”

Peter, Creative Writing student

Leadership and Coaching

Undergraduate Certificate in Coaching

Dates:	21 September 2020 – 28 June 2021 (first cohort) 2 February 2021 – 22 November 2021 (second cohort)
Sessions:	4 day workshop each term + online learning

Philosophy, Ethics and Religion

Undergraduate Diploma in Creativity Theory, History and Philosophy

Dates: 7 November 2020 – 13 June 2021

Sessions: 6 weekends

Course Director: Dr Alex Carter

Credits: 60 CATS points at FHEQ Level 5

Fee: £3,050

Code: 2021DRC800

Apply by: 31 August 2020

The Diploma in Creativity Theory, History and Philosophy looks back at the most pivotal moments in human history, and asks what it was that made particular cultures, societies and individuals creative. In part, this involves asking how our understanding of 'creativity' and of creative acts have changed over time. Yet equally, we too must think creatively about these moments; to reflect on our own lives and endeavours; and to try to 'recapture at will' our most creative moments.

International Relations and Global Studies

Undergraduate Diploma in International Relations

The Undergraduate Diploma in International Relations provides a broad overview to what international relations is, how the international order has come about and how it is changing. The course is designed for those who wish to gain a better understanding of global issues affecting society today, but it will also be of particular interest to those considering the Institute's MSt degree in International Relations or those who have a professional interest in the study of international relations.

History

Postgraduate Certificate in Britain and the Holocaust

for 2020

Dates: 25 September 2020 – 16 May 2021

Sessions: 3 Friday-Sunday teaching blocks

Course Director: Dr Gilly Carr

Credits: 60 CATS points at FHEQ Level 7

Fee: Home/EU: £4,000
Overseas: £6,000

Code: 2021PCB066

Apply by: 29 May 2020

The new Postgraduate Certificate in Britain and the Holocaust is the only course of its type in the country. Taught in a series of three-day teaching blocks over three terms, the course explores the multiple ways in which the rise of Nazism and the Holocaust touched Britain, both before, during and after WWII. The first term examines the refugee crisis of the 1930s, as those fleeing Nazism sought refuge in Britain, only to face antisemitism and rising fascism in the UK too. In the second term students will learn about the impact of the Holocaust and Nazi persecution in the Channel Islands, the only part of the British Isles to be occupied. The third term explores the legacy of the Holocaust since 1945 in the realms of heritage, literature, culture, education and film.

Medicine and Health Sciences

Postgraduate Certificate in Genomic Medicine

Apply by: 30 April 2020

The Postgraduate Certificate in Genomic Medicine is part of the suite of postgraduate courses in Genomic Medicine and designed to educate suitably qualified NHS healthcare professionals from across the multi-professional team to prepare for the future adoption of genomic technologies and the increasing use of genomic information as part of the diagnostic and treatment pathway. It may be possible to enrol on individual modules, dependent on places being available, on a standalone basis for Credit or CPPD (non-credit). The programme has been developed by the University of Cambridge Institute of Continuing Education and Cambridge University Hospitals in partnership with Wellcome Sanger Institute, Wellcome Genome Campus Advanced Courses and Scientific Conferences, and EMBL-European Bioinformatics Institute.

Postgraduate Certificate in Healthcare Data and Informatics

Dates: 28 September 2020 – 31 July 2021
Course Director: Dr Ronan O’Leary
Credits: 60 CATS points at FHEQ Level 7
Fee: Home/EU: £5,000 Overseas: £9,000
Code: HDPGC601
Apply by: 20 May 2020

Cambridge is a world leading centre for innovation in electronic patient and clinical trial data. This is underpinned by an extensive and vibrant community of clinicians, researchers, entrepreneurs, and commercial and public sector organisations. There is a recognised shortage of the appropriate technical and practical skills in the workforce to effectively utilise the opportunities presented by healthcare data. This Postgraduate Certificate has been designed to provide an introduction to the research skills, governance and innovation needed to work successfully with healthcare data. In addition students will be equipped with the skills necessary to understand how healthcare data relates to populations, health conditions and clinical outcomes and learn how to work with healthcare data in an effective manner.

Postgraduate Certificate in Medical Education

Dates: 1 October 2020 – 31 July 2021
Course Director: Dr Jeremy Webb

Fee: Home/EU: £4,000 Overseas: £6,000
Code: 2021CPBM01
Apply by: 31 May 2020

The Postgraduate Certificate is aimed at doctors and other professionals allied to medicine who have a teaching role and/or a role in training and appraising healthcare professionals. The programme is designed to provide practical solutions to teaching undergraduates or postgraduates as individuals, small groups and larger groups. The course has been designed collaboratively by the University of Cambridge, Institute of Continuing Education and the University of Cambridge, School of Clinical Medicine’s Clinical Deanery.

“In a world that’s constantly changing, I remain a strong advocate of lifelong learning. ICE courses are highly relevant to the shifting landscape around us and their part-time structure makes them well-suited to busy, working professionals like me.”

Reginald, Public Policy student

Postgraduate Certificate in Clinical Research, Education and Leadership

Dates: 1 September 2020 – 31 July 2021
Sessions: 5 days per term
Course Director: Dr Tom Monie
Credits: 60 CATS points at FHEQ Level 7
Fee: Home/EU: £5,000 Overseas: £7,000
Code: 2021PCB412
Apply by: 31 May 2020

The Postgraduate Certificate is part of the Clinical Medicine Programme, a suite of part-time courses designed to enhance the specialist skills of senior healthcare professionals in training and broaden their understanding in healthcare education, research, leadership and management. The education and leadership modules may be studied as a standalone course for CPPD (non-credit). The programme has been developed by Cambridge University Health Partners, the academic health sciences centre, in conjunction with the School of Clinical Medicine and the University of Cambridge Institute of Continuing Education.

Postgraduate Certificate in Advanced Clinical Practice (Pre-Hospital Emergency Medicine)

This course is aimed at practitioners of pre-hospital emergency medicine (PHEM) including paramedics, specialist paramedics, nurses and other emergency services professionals. The content aligns to the College of Paramedics' post registration career framework and covers topics such as advanced clinical assessment, clinical leadership and decision making, and pharmacology and therapeutics for PHEM.

The next intake for this course is anticipated to be early 2021. More details to come soon, please check our website for the most up-to-date information.

International Relations and Global Studies

Postgraduate Certificate in Public Policy

The Postgraduate Certificate in Public Policy will provide students with a range of opportunities to develop their understanding of public policy through modules that combine extensive independent study and intensive study-visits, seminars and lectures in Cambridge, as well as the completion of an independent research project. The overarching pedagogic aim of the programme is to accelerate and deepen students' grasp of the processes and dynamics affecting policy-making, the challenges of implementation facing all policy-makers, and the questions of evidence and expertise that have become increasingly salient in politics and policy discourse. Its concrete ambition is to help participants make a greater impact in their professional role.

More details to come soon, please check our website for the most up-to-date information.

Philosophy, Ethics and Religion

“I struggled with dyslexia during my school days in London. Having not performed well, I left aged 16 and trained as a chef. Nearly two decades on from my school difficulties, I decided I wanted to study for a degree, and now I’m hooked on learning. The Faculty of History at ICE is one of the best in the country.”

Cambridge is a world-leading centre for innovation in electronic patient and clinical trial data. This is underpinned by an extensive and vibrant community of clinicians, researchers, entrepreneurs, and commercial and public sector organisations. There is a recognised shortage of the appropriate technical and practical skills in the workforce to effectively utilise the opportunities presented by healthcare data. This course has been designed to meet the skills gap in the management, handling and utilisation of healthcare data and to develop individuals confidence in using healthcare data for innovative and/or commercial applications. The MSt is designed to produce experts, rather than coders and informaticians, who are able to see where healthcare data sits within a wider health and social landscape; and who can use data to deliver value in healthcare, research, and commercial arenas.

MSt in Medical Education

Code: 2021CSCMM6

The Master of Studies (MSt) in Medical Education is part of the Institute of Continuing Education's award-bearing suite of postgraduate (PG) awards in medical education for educators, educational leaders and researchers. The MSt builds on and provides progression from the very successful PG Certificate and PG Diploma courses in Medical Education. It is aimed at doctors, dentists and other healthcare professionals seeking flexible career pathways that allow them to develop a portfolio of work in areas of specialty or interest – education being one of these. The part-time MSt in Medical Education has an emphasis on educational development and research activity, providing opportunities for participants to put their educational knowledge to use in their own context(s) of practice. The course has been designed collaboratively by the University of Cambridge, Institute of Continuing Education, and the University of Cambridge, School of Clinical Medicine's Clinical Deanery. The programme is only open to those who have successfully completed the ICE Postgraduate Diploma in Medical Education.

“I came to ICE because I wanted to learn something 180° away from my day-to-day work. I've spent 30 years in financial services, so the academic environment is an exciting and completely different place to be. It's an experience that has opened up previously unexplored worlds to me and, best of all, I've proved to myself that I'm capable of learning entirely new things.”

On successful completion of this course, students will receive an Advanced Diploma award with 120 credits at FHEQ level 6. This is a 9 month programme, beginning in October 2020. Please contact ipm@ice.cam.ac.uk for more information.

Postgraduate Apprenticeships

The Institute of Continuing Education (ICE) offers postgraduate level apprenticeships (Level 7) in a selected range of professional fields.

New apprenticeships are currently in development and we are actively working with employers who are looking to upskill their staff and utilise the levy in place.

As an apprentice, you can “earn while you learn” and benefit from:

- Having your tuition fees paid via the employer’s Levy Fund
- Immediately putting your learning into practical use, within the working environment.
- An opportunity to gain a Master’s degree from the University of Cambridge.

For more information, please visit www.ice.cam.ac.uk/apprenticeships

If you are an employer, please contact us to register your interest to learn more on how a Level 7 apprenticeship can benefit your workforce and company. Our business partnerships team will address your enquiry and guide you on the next steps.

Please contact apprenticeships@ice.cam.ac.uk if you would like any more information.

Applying for a course

You can apply for courses on our website, at www.ice.cam.ac.uk/qualifications

You can also apply on paper or by phone. To discuss alternative ways of applying, please call our admissions team on +44(0)1223 746262 or email ice.admissions@ice.cam.ac.uk

Fees and funding

You may be able to apply for a student loan from Student Finance England. Many of our part-time courses are eligible for both a tuition fee and maintenance loan. In most cases, to be eligible for a loan you must not have previously taken out a loan for study at an equivalent or lower level than the course upon which you plan to enrol.

As loans can take some time to process, please apply as soon as you can.

Many courses offer you the option of paying for your fee in several interest free installments, as an alternative to paying in full when you enrol.

Additional costs

Additional costs are the mandatory or optional expenses you may need to pay during your studies. These may include, for example, the costs for study materials, equipment or field trips. Anticipated additional costs will be highlighted on the course page. Tuition fees do not cover the costs of purchasing books or stationery, printing or photocopying costs.

Please see www.ice.cam.ac.uk/funding for more information.

Bursaries

We aim to promote the widest possible access for learners to the University of Cambridge. However, we know that for many prospective students, paying for the costs of studying at university can be challenging. We are particularly keen to provide financial support for students from economically disadvantaged backgrounds, underrepresented groups in university-led higher education and people who have not previously studied at university-level.

To this end, we have a range of different bursary schemes on offer to help remove or reduce this potential barrier to learning with us, including the ICE First Time in Higher Education, the Workers' Educational Association and the Cambridge United Community Trust bursaries. Please see www.ice.cam.ac.uk/bursaries for more information and our full range of bursaries. Please note that bursaries are competitive and it is usually the case that there are more eligible applications for funding than there are bursaries available.

Entry requirements

Most Undergraduate Certificate courses have no formal entry requirements, whilst higher-level courses (Undergraduate Diplomas and upwards) typically require some relevant knowledge and experience. Please be aware that all ICE courses are taught at university level. Students from outside the European Economic Area (EEA) and Switzerland will require an appropriate visa to attend a course at ICE.

English language requirements

All teaching is in English and you should be able to read, write and speak the language fluently. If English is not your first language, we will need evidence of your competence before we can confirm that you have a place. For details, see www.ice.cam.ac.uk/language-requirements

Students with additional requirements

We welcome applications from disabled students, and make every effort to make reasonable adjustments to meet their needs. Please contact us in advance at da@ice.cam.ac.uk to discuss your requirements.

Student participation and assessment

We expect you to attend the face to face teaching sessions and submit all assessed assignments for your course. For more information, please visit www.ice.cam.ac.uk/info/student-commitment

Cancellations and refunds policy

The University of Cambridge reserves the right to amend, postpone or withdraw courses or sessions should circumstances demand. For up-to-date course information, please visit www.ice.cam.ac.uk. Information in this prospectus was correct at 20 February 2020.

In the event of insufficient enrolments, we will normally give notice of withdrawal of a course at least a week before the scheduled start of teaching. Please visit www.ice.cam.ac.uk/info/cancellations-and-refunds-policy for more information on our cancellations and refunds policy.

Madingley Hall

Set in eight acres of beautiful gardens and parkland, 16th century Madingley Hall is a wonderful place to study and stay.

The Hall and gardens

Many of the historic rooms in the Hall are used for teaching, and you are very welcome to explore during your time at Madingley.

Full of character and history, our gardens were designed in the 18th century by Lancelot 'Capability' Brown. You are encouraged to take full advantage of these beautiful surroundings; taking a stroll around the gardens is the perfect way to relax and unwind.

Food and drink

Our Terrace Bar offers complimentary tea and coffee, and is a great place to catch up with a classmate or undertake some independent studying. There are also a selection of other refreshments available for you to purchase.

Sustainability at the Institute of Continuing Education

Green Impact is an environmental accreditation scheme, and we are very proud to have attained the highest ranking – platinum – for our efforts in reducing environmental impact across the Institute. From our sustainable food and free shuttle bus service to reducing our paper use, we are continually reducing our carbon footprint.

Here at ICE, we have recently launched a carbon reduction initiative to offset 1,500 tonnes of carbon emissions. We will support projects in the UK, India and the Amazon rainforest including; tree planting, reducing deforestation, and the installation of renewable energy sources.
